INSTITUTIONAL DISTINCTIVENESS

Seva Mandal Education Society is centrally located within the city. It has good accessibility through public transport. There are five railway stations and two bus depots within walkable distance. has been a pioneer in providing qualitative educational facilities to girl students for the last six decades. It started in 1957 with just seven students and today encompasses, more than 6000 female students in eight institutions of the campus.

The Institute's working, is in tune with the vision of the trust for providing women empowerment through quality education, irrespective of their class, creed and culture. The College functions towards social upliftment, to empower women and make them self-sufficient.

Maximum students of the College, belong to the poor socio-economic group. In fulfilling the motto of the trust, the Institute has developed a distinctive practice of making provision for scholarship, freeships and sponsorship to maximum students possible, to ensure that, no student discontinues the course due to inability in paying fees. The Institute aids the poor students in form of monetary help for fee payment and in kind to cater to the nutritional needs and family support. Various forms of assistance to students include,

- Scholarship from Government
- Scholarship from MUHS, like Earn & Learn, Savitribai Phule, Dhanvantari, book bank facility, etc.
- Scholarship from private agencies, such as Karma yogi
- SNA and TNAI scholarship
- Institute freeship
- Students also avail benefit in terms of food from "Khichadi project by 'ISKON Food Relief' to provide institutional food. This aims to protect them from falling sick and becoming victims of malnourishment.

- Facility of Anaaj Daan by Lions club of Sion. The club donors sponsor rice, daal, sugar and other staples as per donation received, to the selective students, who are below poverty line. Every third Saturday of the month is the day of distribution.
- 'Bahishal Yojana' of the University aids the institute in carrying out women empowerment programs for the students.

Students are informed about the scholarships and welfare schemes available in a particular year and are encouraged to apply for the same. A standard operating procedure is followed to carry out these functions. The Institute, scrutinizes the eligible candidates and verifies their documents and facilitates them in obtaining the scholarship. There is a scholarship committee to review the entire process of scholarship from obtaining donors, scholarship resources, orientation-training-guidance to sites and filling of data, to monitoring of recovery of the sanctioned amount. College also has an overall campus scholarship co-ordinator who looks after the private scholarship.

For the last five years, 605 students, accounting for 86%, have taken the advantage of these Scholarships. It has enabled them to continue their education and improve performance.

60 students have been benefitted from Anajdaan. Students have expressed their gratification for the same as their families have received the support. Kichadi project has helped more than 156 students in aiding them with institutional food.

The College continues to strive and seek funds and donations that would help to sustain the practice for helping maximum students avail higher education, thus achieving its motto of women empowerment. It also aids them in employment at various Corporate and private hospitals.

REVIEWS OF KICHADI PROJECT

It was one of the most delicious food items which was provided to us through college. It was very delicious and nutritious. I gained almost 2 kg of weight after consuming it. It was provided to me for 3 months. I was very excited along with my other batchmates as we all got common food. I could give little relief to my mother as she doesn't have to prepare lunch for me on those particular days. I could feel that it was easily digested and it was soothing for my stomach. I would be very happy if I get it in future also.

Ms. Sana – 2nd year ANM Student

The food provided was nutritious as it contains all the essential nutrients which was essential. for us. The khichdi was rich in protein, vitamins etc. The Khichdi was prepared with pure ghee which was good for my health. There is increase in my weight. As I stay far from college, it becomes difficult for my mom to prepare tiffin box for breakfast and lunch, and khichdi provided to me in college helps me with my daily breakfast
